Council sets density for northwest Upland

By Don Green

With one dissenting vote, the Upland City Council Monday night adopted a general plan amendment broadly outlining the future residential density of the city's largest remaining area of undeveloped land.

Under the amendment, a maximum of four residential units (homes, apartments or condominiums) per acre could be built in the 814-acre northwest area.

However, the amendment reserves that maximum density for innovative planned residential development qualifying for a "density bonus."

For conventional homes, the maximum density allowed there will be up to three units per acre.

Adoption of the general plan amendment — which would be effective May 2 if the second reading is approved April 3 — ends long debate over the future of the northwest area.

The City Council first authorized study of residential densities in late 1976.

Council members expressed hope that the density bonus concept — allowing up to one additional unit per acre for planned residential development — will lead to some housing patterns different from the conventional grid network of subdivisions.

The density bonus for particular developments would be fixed by the Planning Commission and City Council when projects are submitted for conditional-use permits.

Planned residential developments feature some clustering of homes and sharing of common open space. These developments can lend themselves more easily to curved street patterns than conventional tracts.

A plan showing a winding extension of Benson Avenue north to 24th Street was adopted by the council last year.

The northwest area is bounded by the proposed extension of the Foothill Freeway to the south, the boundary of San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties to the west, 24th Street to the north and an imaginary line 660 feet east of Mountain Avenue to the east.

The area includes San Antonio Wash and Planning Director Bill Young has said the actual developable acreage amounts to 494 acres. Much of the land is currently citrus groves.

The City Council followed the latest recommendation of the Planning Commission in choosing the general plan amendment over an alternative that would have confined the density bonus area to land on both sides of Mountain Avenue rather than the entire area.

Councilman Bill Bottin cast the one dissenting vote. Frank Hoover, elected to the council March 7, joined the other three council members in approving the amendment.

Bottin said he supported innovative development for the area, but indicated it could best be achieved dividing the northwest section into various densities.

He said the city should accept some large lots, up to an acre, if that is what incoming residents want.

Wayne Blanton of 743 Birch Ave. noted actual densities will be less than described once land is taken out for public uses, such as streets.

He said the city should allow up to four units per acre for conventional housing, adding the actual yield for developments would be about 3.2 units per acre.

"Put the burden on the back of the developer to come in with a map you like, a design you like," he told the council.

Mayor George Gibson responded, "Many people in the city have wanted growth stopped completely."

He added that no one on the council believes that view is "morally or legally correct," but said that "some of us feel we don't have to make it as crowded."

Traffic congestion, the uncertain fate of the proposed extension of the Foothill Freeway and added demand for public services are reasons for a "compromise" on density in the northwest, Gibson said.

Young stressed that while the amendment fixes the maximum density, the actual residential makeup of the area would be determined by zoning later.

EASTER EGG HUNT — A large egg held by Jennifer Heise attracts the attention of John David Stager (kneeling) and Robbie Silveira. Youngsters 3-5 years old will hunt for chocolate Easter eggs 10 a.m. Saturday at the baseball diamond of Upland Memorial Park. Harry Sippel.

Upland's director of volunteer services, said close to 500 children took part in last year's hunt. The event is sponsored by the Upland Recreation Department and the Upland Junior Women's Club. (Photo by Don Green)

Learning the ins, outs of business

Game takes Uplander on 10-year quest

By Don Green

It's with a sense of irony that Richard Werft Jr. of Upland tells how he became a game inventor.

Like Odysseus in The Odyssey, Werft's board game spawned by Homer's classic tale has taken him on a 10-year journey learning the ins and outs of manufacturing and distributing, joining the hunt for precious shelf space and keeping a wary eye on the giants of the game business.

Werft said he first had the idea for the game as a ninth grader faced with submitting a project for an English class. While others stayed with more conventional class work, such as biographies or drawings, Werft invented a game based on The Odyssey.

Now 24, the graduate of California State University, Fullerton, has spent countless hours perfecting the game and getting it on the market.

Werft explained that he has attempted to give players the "experience of taking a journey" or starting an adventure in his game, The Odyssey of Homer.

Like many other games, Werft's Odyssey uses dice, cards, marking pieces (miniature ships) and a start-finish format. Two to six may play and the person with the highest point total wins.

What makes his game different, Werft said, is what happens to the players between the start and finish.

He noted Americans "tend to associate going forward with good and going backward is bad." However, players who find themselves hurled back by "peril" cards may gain points, and although the player who finishes first gets a bonus, that person may not be the winner, Werft said.

"People are constantly having to re-evaluate their expectations on what will happen next," he explained.

Since the "peril" and "destiny" cards affect more than one player, Werft said, persons playing the game interact and a "mild revenge factor" enters play.

"On the surface this is like the legend, Underneath what I'm trying to do is promote kids (and adults) getting involved in the game, rather than being just spectators," he noted.

The board is brightly designed with a map roughly paralleling the journey of Odysseus (or Ulysses) surrounded by a threatening giant and the multi-headed serpent Scylla and tempting Circe and Sirens, among others.

Werft said one reason he picked The Odyssey as the basis of his game is that the well-known legend gives him some "built-in publicity" for his uphill battle to market his product.

He noted the game business is dominated by a few large corporations, such as Parker Brothers and Milton Bradley, and that The Odyssey of Homer must build a good track record before he can approach one of the firms for a favorable deal.

"A little guy starting out really has his back against the wall," Werft said. He explained that a large firm may make a deal giving the inventor a small percentage of sales for a short time and then wait until the contract expires before pushing the product.

Some 2,500 of his games have been marketed, he said, adding he has inventory for 2,500 more.

He commented, "There's a lot of different things involved because you're not just making a game — you're starting a business really."

"You're manufacturing, which means you need an accountant and bookkeepers and all that kind of stuff."

Fortunately, he added, his brother, John, is an accountant and his sister, Sharon, studies bookkeeping.

The Uplander said he has been actively trying to market the game since 1975 and that he picked up valuable advice from a game agent in San Francisco and Ralph Anspach, an economics professor who unsuccessfully challenged Parker Brothers and Monopoly in court with his Antimonopoly game.

Werft incorporated the Action Game Co. in 1977, and he said the game is being marketed through several agents in Northern California. It is sold locally at Upland Feed and Fuel.

Werft holds a bachelor's degree in psychology and he explained he used what he learned about probability and statistics to help keep the outcome of his game in doubt to the final moves.

He said he plans to slowly build up distribution of The Odyssey of Homer and use other classical and perhaps Biblical themes in future games.

Werft added that one day he may use his game, if successful, as an inroad to becoming a game inventor for a big firm. In any event, he plans to keep inventing games.

"I just hope to make a living out of it," he said.

News Briefs

General plan hearing

The Upland Planning Commission will meet 7:30 tonight in city hall, 460 N. Euclid Ave. Among the items for consideration will be a general plan amendment affecting future land uses in the 1,234-acre southeast quadrant.

King Tut film

"Tut: The Boy King," a film narrated by Orson Welles, will be shown 3 p.m. Tuesday and 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 29 at the Upland Public Library, 450 N. Euclid Ave. Admission is free, but seating is limited. The film depicts the story of King Tutankhamun of Egypt as seen through the relics and treasures of his tomb, which was discovered in 1922.

Murder comedy

Nedra Volz, D.R. Hartin, Robert Moering, Janet Ford, and Dick Reinhard, all of Upland, appear in the Gallery Theater production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through April 22 at the theater, C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario. The comedy is about two elderly women who murder lonely, old men from the best of motives. For reservations call 982-5357.

Baby care class

Registration and fees are being taken at the Upland Recreation Department, 123 E. D St., for a four-week course in baby care. Jill Chestnut and Carol Wenger are the instructors of the class that will teach new parents how to bathe a baby, take its temperature, care for common illnesses and prevent accidents. The instructors will also discuss growth and development of infants to 1 year old and the psychological changes of parents after delivery. The class will be held 8-10 a.m. Tuesdays, beginning April 4, in the Cellar of the Recreation Department. For further information, call 985-0994.

Crafts demonstration

Roberta McDaniels will give a demonstration of how to make hooked rugs during the Hobby Circle 10-10:30 a.m. Monday at the Upland Public Library, 450 N. Euclid Ave. Eva Gomez will show how to make Christmas trees from plastic rings and a sewing kit from a plastic bleach bottle at the session 10-10:30 a.m. Tuesday. Story Time for preschool children is held at the same time both days. There are no fees for the library events.

Class reunion

The Upland High School class of 1968 will hold its 10-year reunion July 22 at El Prado Golf Course and Country Club, 6555 Pine Ave., Chino. Members of the reunion committee need names and addresses for classmates not yet located. For reservations and additional information, call 986-0502, 983-4417, 985-6815 or 984-2452.

FASHION SHOW — Mrs. Maher Bishai of Upland goes out on a limb to model dress while Mrs. Don Hart of Upland looks on. Members of the Assistance League of Upland will hold a fund-raising fashion show and luncheon April 3 at Griswold's Pavilion, 415 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont. Proceeds from the event, which begins with a social hour at 10:30 a.m., will be used to support philanthropic projects. For reservations, call Mrs. Pierce Martin, 985-4446, by Tuesday. New ordinance would allow development fees

The Upland City Council Monday night passed an ordinance that would allow it to set additional fees on new residential development at a later meeting.

The enabling ordinance contains

Taunton resigns for new career

Fred Taunton, Upland's recreation director since 1971, has resigned his position effective Friday to start a new career as a general contractor in Flagstaff, Ariz.

He will be replaced by Larry Thornburg, who has served five years on the Recreation Department's assistant director.

Taunton said this week Thornburg will serve as acting director for indefinite period, while the city waits for voting on the Jarvis-Gann property tax initiative in June and its possible impact on Upland's revenues.

The recreation director said he is leaving Upland with "some reservations." He noted he has presided over the department during its expansion from a program primarily for children during summer months to a full year-round operation.

Taunton said he will start his own contracting firm in Flagstaff, where he will build homes and possibly some hotels.

Taunton and his wife, Dale, live in Etiwanda. They have two children.

provisions for new fees for three funds: storm drain development, street and traffic facilities development and sewage collection and treatment.

Language regarding an existing fee for park acquisition and development was also retained in the ordinance. A proposal by city staff recommends this fee remain at a base rate of $150 per dwelling with one bedroom and an additional $50 levied for every additional bedroom per new home.

The council took no action Monday night on actually setting fees permitted by the ordinance.

A proposal drafted by City Engineer Fred Blanchard would provide an additional $1,050 in total fees over the current amount for park acquisition and development.

If the enabling ordinance passes again on second reading April 3, the council could consider setting the actual fees by resolution at its May 15 meeting.

Of the $1,050 total, $600 would be charged for new sewer connections by the Chino Basin Municipal Water District and city service of sewer lines.

The other $450 would be divided between sliding funds for storm drain construction and traffic improvements, with the latter fund receiving the entire amount during fiscal 1978-79.

Council members expressed reservations about the sewer connection charge, noting West End cities are still negotiating with the Chino Basin district over financing future sewage treatment expansion.

GAME INVENTOR — Richard Werft Jr. holds miniature ship used as piece in The Odyssey of Homer, a game he invented and has begun to market. Werft said game manufacturing is more complicated than he imagined when he first decided to put his ideas onto a game board. The 24-year-old Upland resident used concepts he learned as a psychology major in college for his version of The Odyssey. Like Homer's Odysseus, Werft said he has taken a 10-year journey from his original idea to marketing the product. (Photo by Don Green)

RACE DAY — Mrs. Vernon Hesseltine, secretary; Mrs. Donald G. Woodward, co-chairman of the event; and Mrs. William Evans, supporting associate, pack up a box lunch for "A Day at the Races," planned April 8 in the infield of Santa Anita Race Track, Arcadia, by the Casa Alegre Auxiliary of the Children's Home Society. Proceeds are earmarked to support the work of the Children's Home Society in pregnancy counseling, day care, foster family care, group home care, parent-child counseling, public education and adoption. The ticket price will include admission to the track, box lunch and donation. Ticket sales will end March 30. Call Mrs. Woodward at 985-1378 for information.

County lines hinder good transportation system

By PETER WONG

The local transportation system will be improved greatly only when the problem of county boundaries is resolved, the West Valley Transit Service Authority board decided.

The board will call that problem to the attention of the Los Angeles County Transportation Commission in hopes that a single system will eventually link Pomona, Claremont and La Verne with the five cities in Western San Bernardino County.

The board heard testimony about how the transportation needs of the elderly and handicapped were not being fully met because the specialized services available in the West End cannot cross the county line.

"We do have that block we hope to overcome someday," Montclair Mayor Harold M. Hayes said. "I think that it's significant to drive this home to the people on the other side of the line."

A number of witnesses told the board that without such special public transportation as Dial-A-Ride, the elderly and handicapped cannot reach points in Pomona, Claremont and La Verne.

Ontario, Upland, Chino, Montclair, and San Bernardino County (for Rancho Cucamonga) are members of the West Valley Transit Service Authority, as are Pomona and Claremont.

The latter cities, however, are within the Southern California

Rapid Transit District and contribute no money to the West Valley system.

Last year, Pomona, Claremont and La Verne moved to secede from the Southern California Rapid Transit District and join the West Valley system. But that move has been stalled.

The West Valley board met to hear how public transportation needs, particularly of the elderly and handicapped, can be best met for the year starting July 1. The board is scheduled to make its recommendations March 30.

Written comments will be accepted through this week by the San Bernardino Associated Governments, the organization that is responsible for transportation planning in all of San Bernardino County. (The comments can be sent to 334 W. Third St., Suite 401, San Bernardino 92401.)

Most of the testimony presented last week urged an expansion of special transportation services for the elderly and handicapped. Some witnesses called for costly, sweeping measures to guarantee access to transportation.

Wastewater study ok'd

A project that is expected to lead to recycling of some of the West End's treated wastewater was among 55 approved for funding Friday by the state Water Resources Control Board.

The first phase of the project will cost an estimated $300,000. The entire project is expected to cost more than $20 million and is scheduled to be completed by mid-1981.

The project would recycle the wastewater that is discharged from regional sewage treatment plants in Ontario and Chino. The reclaimed wastewater would be used for a number of purposes, among them:

— Irrigation of farmland, landscaping and golf courses.

— Replacement of groundwater pumped from the Chino Basin, which underlies most of the West End.

— Coolant water for Southern California Edison's steam generating plant in Etiwanda and other industrial uses.

The $300,000 will pay for a computer study of how water recycling would affect the Chino Basin and the Santa Ana River. Requirements for wastewater treatment would also be decided upon.

Engineering and construction of a wastewater recycling system will not be considered by the state until the study is completed.

Chairman for Prop. 13 named

Dallas Richins, president and chairman of the board of West End Rights of Ontario, has been named director of the San Bernardino County campaign for Proposition 13 by Howard Jarvis, co-author of the 1 percent property tax reduction initiative on the June 6 ballot.

West End Rights is a civic group devoted to informing the public on political issues affecting the San Bernardino County area.

Richins has shown great interest in good government over the years, and believes strongly that the public is entitled to all the facts pertaining to their welfare," Jarvis said in making the appointment.

Headquarters for the San Bernardino Yes on 13 Committee have been established at 520 N. Euclid Ave., Suite 20, Ontario, telephone 986-3895.

Richins is a former aide to the late Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, and has been active in numerous clubs.

Conservation contest set

March 31 is the deadline for accepting nominations for the fifth national "Conservation Teacher of the Year" awards program, according to B.D. Galleano, chairman of the West End Resource Conservation District.

The competition is open to all teachers working at the kindergarten through high school level who have developed an outstanding program of environmental education.

The teacher of the year will receive $1,500 in cash and an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., for the annual convention of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The national second-place winner will receive a $300 cash award.

This year, the West End Resource Conservation District has set up three awards for the district: first place, $100, second place, $50, and third place, $25 cash.

Interested teachers can obtain additional information and nomination forms from their principals or by calling the West End district office, 627-9372.

Shirley Kerr, conservation coordinator for the district, said "to date, we have not received a single application from a teacher. I can't imagine there is not at least one deserving teacher in each school district."

SHOES AND YOUR CHILDREN....

Pigeon-Toe is a Doctor's Problem

by Harold Berk

Pigeon-Toe

Pigeon-Toe is a common childhood problem. The child suffering from this condition displays an awkward gait, characterized by marked inward turning of the feet.

The problem is usually exaggerated in running or rapid walking. The child frequently trips himself and falls.

There are many different causes of Pigeon-Toe and treatment will necessarily depend upon the cause. Therefore, it is important that diagnosis and treatment be left to the professional man, who can study all the possible ramifications of the problem.

Be assured that whatever your doctor prescribes is available in our complete prescription department.

TRANSPORTATION — Chaffey College professor Ken Edwards watches as driver Juanita Waltman operates the wheelchair lift for the maxi-van which is available weekdays in the West End. Wheelchair users can arrange transportation by calling 620-1902. Cost is 50 cents per ride for the service provided by Omnitrans.

Movement classes for toddlers

The West End YMCA in Ontario is offering movement education classes for children from 3 months to 5 years old, meeting twice weekly on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

The "Kermit the Frog" baby fitness class for prewalkers from 3 to 12 months old will be offered from 9 to 9:30. Mothers will be shown how to properly exercise their infants. The class is designed to help strengthen young muscles and joints, which is important for good development and walking readiness.

The "Cookie Monster" class for children from 1 to 5 years old will be held Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9:30 to 10. The course is designed to teach children to use their own creativity and imagination through movement. It will help preschoolers in motor development and reading readiness.

"Cookie Monster" activities include: trampoline, parachute, basic tumbling, hoops, balloons, wands, balls and target board. The class is designed to improve coordination and other basic skills.

Fees will be charged for the classes. For registration information, call the West End YMCA, 215 W. C St., Ontario, at 986-5847.

Ayala, Ridley run for state senate district

Stressing the importance of economic issues to his West End district, state Sen. Ruben S. Ayala has announced he will run for a second four-year term.

The 55-year-old Ayala, whose 32nd Senatorial District includes all of the West End, filed his declaration of candidacy in Sacramento.

"I look forward to another four years... with enthusiasm and determination toward passing legislation which will strengthen our economy and alleviate the heavy burden of high taxes and unemployment which we all share today," Ayala said in a statement.

Ayala won his Senate seat Jan. 15, 1974, in a special election to decide the replacement of William Coombs, who resigned. Ayala defeated the Republican candidate, Assemblyman Jerry Lewis.

Later that year, Ayala won a full four-year term with 68.8 percent of the vote.

Before his election to the state Senate, Ayala had been a county supervisor for seven years.

Ayala's old Senate district (the 20th) included practically all of San Bernardino County. The district he presently serves extends from Pomona to San Bernardino.

Ayala has had a long career in local government, first as a Chino Unified School District trustee from 1955 to 1962, then when he was elected to the Chino City Council. Two years later, the council named him mayor.

In November, 1966, he ousted an incumbent to become county supervisor from the Fourth District. He was chairman of the board of supervisors from Dec. 2, 1968 to Jan. 2, 1973.

Since last year, Ayala has been chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Water Resources Committee. He has three other Senate committee assignments — Local Government, Natural Resources and Wildlife, and Revenue and Taxation.

As chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Water Resources Committee, Ayala has been guiding legislative passage of a bill to speed up expansion of the California Water Project — a bill strongly supported by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s administration.

"Traditionally, I file my candidacy papers with the registrar of voters in my district; however, with the tough battle I had in presenting my Senate Bill 346... to the Senate for their crucial vote, I had to remain in Sacramento," he said.

Challenger

Asserting that the incumbent is too closely allied with professional politicians and lobbyists, a Democrat turned Republican has announced he will challenge the re-election bid of state Sen. Ruben S. Ayala.

John Ridley, an engineer who lives in Pomona, has been circulating petitions in place of paying the filing fee and has taken out nomination papers in the 32nd Senatorial District race. The district includes all of the West End.

"The feeling I have received is that people feel that Ayala has been in public office too long, that he is insensitive to the real needs of the people in this district," Ridley said in a statement.

"The people in this district are sadly unimpressed with the record of the state government on every major issue. They deserve to have their views presented in Sacramento to like they really are, rather than have professional politicians and lobbyists continue to run the state."

"Ayala's record as a professional politician and his meal ticket with the lobbies will be major issues in my campaign."

Ridley, founding president of the Pomona Democratic Club, said he changed his party registration because of what he called his disenchantment with "machine-style" politics.

The 50-year-old Ridley challenged Ayala's positions on a number of issues, including:

— Ayala's "total reluctance" to oppose the Brown administration's energy proposals, "which are forcing industry out of California, creating dependence on fossil fuels and putting the burden on the consumer to pick up the tab."

(Ayala voted for a bill to exempt the proposed Sunders nuclear power plant from nuclear safeguard laws, a position opposed by the governor.)

— Ayala's sponsorship of a bill to speed up completion of the California Water Project to deliver water from Northern California "while we pour millions of gallons of water into the ocean here in Southern California every day."

Ridley is employed by Southwestern Engineering Co. in Commerce. He has served on the Pomona Redevelopment Commission and is a member of the Pomona Merit Commission and the citizens' planning committee for the Pomona Unified School District.

He earned bachelor's and master's degrees in engineering from Drexel University in Philadelphia and did further work at the University of La Verne and UCLA.

If Ridley wins the Republican nomination in the June 6 primary, he will face Ayala, a Democrat, in the Nov. 7 general election.

People in the News

Winners

Fourteen students from the Chaffey Joint Union High School District have earned the right to participate in the Southern California Journalism Education Association (SCJEA) Write-offs April 29 at Kennedy High School in Granada Hills.

Each student placed in recent writing competition at the Inland Journalism Education Association (IJE) On-The-Spot Writing Tournament at San Bernardino Valley College. Twenty schools competed in the high school division; 143 writers entered in each of four categories.

In sweepstakes honors, Alta Loma High School tied for fifth with Colton, while Upland High School placed seventh.

Individual honors, and those who qualify for further competition, went to Steve Barker, Upland, first in news; Jodie Hickman, Montclair, sixth in news; Alan Lewis, Alta Loma, eighth in news; Ellen Arias, Alta Loma, 14th in news, and Brent Reed, Upland, 15th in news.

In sports writing, Ed Ulloa, Upland placed 11th, while Kris Kleinman, Upland, placed 13th.

In separate competition, Tony Magnon, Upland, placed third in editorial cartooning.

Scholar-athlete

Mark Anderson, senior student at Alta Loma High School, is one of only 11 students in the area to be selected to receive a scholar-athlete award. Anderson is only the second ALHS student to be so honored. First Alta Loma student so honored was Bill Houtz, who will graduate this year from the Service Academy at West Point.

Anderson will be honored on March 10 by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, sponsors of the award, at a dinner at the Brookside Golf Club in Pasadena.

Anderson currently has a 3.897 grade point average. He plans to attend the University of Utah in Provo. Earlier in the year he was honored as the outstanding physics student by the University of California, Riverside.

A member of the current (CIF Playoff) varsity basketball team, he serves as co-captain. He was named Most Valuable Player on the frosh basketball team.

In addition to his basketball prowess, he served as co-captain of the junior varsity football team in his sophomore year. He made All-Hacienda League in football in his junior year, and was co-captain of the football team in his senior year.

Besides basketball and football, Anderson also plays baseball. He was named Most Valuable Player of the junior varsity baseball team in his sophomore year.

Awards

Jeff Graham, Mark Anderson and Tony Massagli garnered Most Valuable Player laurels night as Alta Loma boys' basketball and soccer teams were honored.

Graham and Anderson shared the MVP for the varsity basketball team, which reached the CIF (2A) quarterfinals before being eliminated by Canyon of Saugus.

Massagli won the top soccer award for his team, a semifinalist in the CIF (3A) playoffs in which the Braves lost to Pacific.

More leading basketball awards went to Frank Basile (Co-Captain, Most Inspirational, Top Free Throw Shooter), Tom Eichenberg and Larry Norton (Co-Most Improved) and Anderson (Co-Captain).

MVPs in lower division basketball included Randy Brown (javees), Steve Graham (sophomores) and the duo of Eric Graham and Dave Kuresa (freshmen).

In soccer, Pete Valles was named Captain, and Most Inspirational Player, while Joe Joe LeBeau was tabbed Most Improved Player.

Winners

Members of the Foothill Farmers Rabbit division entered the contest for the Southern California American Rabbit Breeders Association for the youth queen, king, prince and princess in Villa Park.

Kelly Teenor of Cucamonga was elected queen of the southern division and Lisa Douglas of Alta Loma was runner-up.

Mary Contino of Cucamonga was runner-up for princess.

The girls will attend the state convention for California state queen and princess in Sacramento in April. The winner will go on to the National Convention of American Rabbit Breeders Association in Michigan in October.

Energy

Upland resident Dina Hunter of the Community Services Department of San Bernardino County, has been nominated to serve on the proposed State Energy Conservation Policy Advisory Board.

Hunter's recommendation to serve on the board resulted from her outstanding track record as program manager for CDS's Weatherization Energy Conservation Program. She has received national recognition for cost effectiveness and program innovation. She is also a member of the Upland School District Board of Trustees.

The advisory board is being organized to set policy relative to energy conservation programs for low income groups.

Dean's list

Seven Upland residents have been named to the dean's list at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

They are George William Hawkins, John Crawford Judge, Susan Lael Mach, Janet Ann Rossi, Michi Ann Sato, Tracy Lynne Summers and Luke Anthony Torres.

Elected

Vic Vickery will serve as regional commissioner for ACE (Alta Loma-Cucamonga-Etiwanda) of the American Youth Soccer Organization during the 1978-79 season.

He'll be assisted by Louise Pavay as assistant regional commissioner, while Larry Taylor, Roy Taylor and Rich Hood will serve as district commissioners.

Other members elected at a recent meeting include Judy Massagli, regional treasurer; Dave Campbell, regional secretary; Art Anthonisz, commissioner of coaches; Ron Heuerman, commissioner of referees; Dennis Bein, equipment manager; Dan Massagli, coordinator of finance; Mary Beene, publicity director; Larry Hawkins, safety director; and Glen Burger, field manager.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY OF MONTCLAIR
NOTICE INVITING BIDS
For The Construction and Installation of
KINGSLEY STREET PARK SITE

RECEIPT OF PROPOSALS: Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Montclair, California, until 10:00 o'clock a.m. on April 20, 1978, for the furnishing of all labor, materials and equipment for the construction of colored concrete block wall at the Kingsley Street Park Site. The words "Bid: Kingsley Street Park Site Colored Block Wall" shall appear on the envelope of each sealed bid and each envelope shall be addressed to the City Clerk, City Hall, Montclair, California. The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the Council Chambers, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, California, at 10:00 a.m. on the date above mentioned.

ENGINEER'S ESTIMATE:

Item	Item	Estimated Quantity
1.	7 foot high, 8 inch Color Concrete Block Wall	430 L.F.
2.	3 1/2 foot high, 8 inch Colored Concrete Block Wall	25 L.F.
	Complete Including PCC footing and steel

DESCRIPTION OF WORK: The entire work is contained in a single bid schedule. The work consists of the construction of 3 1/2 foot and 7 foot high concrete block wall around the southerly and easterly perimeter at the City of Montclair's park site located on Kingsley Street.

COMPLETION OF WORK: All work shall be completed within thirty (30) working days after the date of the execution of the contract by the City.

OBTAINING CONTRACT DOCUMENTS: Plans and specifications and all contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Housing Coordinator, City Hall, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, California. A refundable payment of $5.00 for each set of specifications with accompanying drawings will be required.

PROPOSAL GUARANTEE: Each proposal must be accompanied by cash or by a cashier's or certified check or by a bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid price, made payable to the order of the City Clerk of the City of Montclair, as a guaranty that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. The faithful performance bond shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the prices stated in the proposal. The labor and material bond shall be in the sum of not less than fifty (50%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the prices stated in the proposal. In addition to the above and if requested by the City, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

WAGE RATES: Pursuant to applicable provisions of the Labor Code of the State of California, not less than the general prevailing wage of per diem wages including legal holidays, and overtime work for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the work contemplated under this agreement shall be paid to all workmen employed on the work to be done according to this contract by the Contractor, or any Subcontractor shall be deemed to include employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation, and similar purposes and shall be in addition to the prevailing hourly rate adopted by the Council of the City of Montclair. The Contractor shall comply with Section 1777.5 of the Labor Code of the State of California.

OWNER'S RIGHTS RESERVED: The City Council of the City of Montclair reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any informality in a bid and to make awards as the interest of the City may require. This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Montclair, California.

$20 million ok'd for mental health

By PETER WONG

County supervisors agreed Monday how to spend nearly $20 million for a variety of mental health programs in the coming year.

State law requires the comprehensive spending plan, since the state pays for a major share of local programs related to mental health, alcoholism and drug abuse treatment, and state hospital usage.

As they frequently do with multimillion-dollar spending plans, the supervisors passed this one Monday without much discussion.

But in this case, the silence was deceiving, since the supervisors had reviewed the plan at a half-day workshop earlier this year.

Furthermore, Andrew G. Robertson, county mental health director, had discussed the plan with each supervisor beforehand.

PUBLIC NOTICE

ORDINANCE NUMBER 457
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MONTCLAIR ADDING SECTION 9-4.2364 OF ARTICLE 23 OF CHAPTER 4 OF TITLE 9 OF THE MONTCLAIR MUNICIPAL CODE RELATING TO THE AMENDMENT OF THE OFFICIAL ZONING MAP

The City Council of the City of Montclair does ordain as follows: SECTION 1. AMENDMENT TO CODE.

Section 9-4.2364 of Article 23 of Chapter 4 of Title 9 of the Montclair Municipal Code is hereby added as follows:

Section 9-4.2364 Zoning Map Amendment
The R-1 (single family residential) zoned property described as follows is hereby zoned in accordance therewith.

Lot 14, of the Claremont Orange Tract in the City of Montclair, County of San Bernardino, State of California, per Map recorded in Book 17 of Maps Page 87 Records of Said County.

The Zoning Map is amended in accordance with the provisions of this section and the district boundaries are so designated. An insert copy of Zoning Map No. 68 showing the described area is attached hereto, and incorporated herein by reference.

SECTION II. PUBLICATION

The City Clerk of the City of Montclair shall cause this ordinance to be published in the Montclair Tribune at least once within fifteen days after its passage.

Approved and adopted this 20th day of March 1978.

MAYOR OF THE CITY OF MONTCLAIR

ATTEST:

CITY CLERK OF THE CITY OF MONTCLAIR

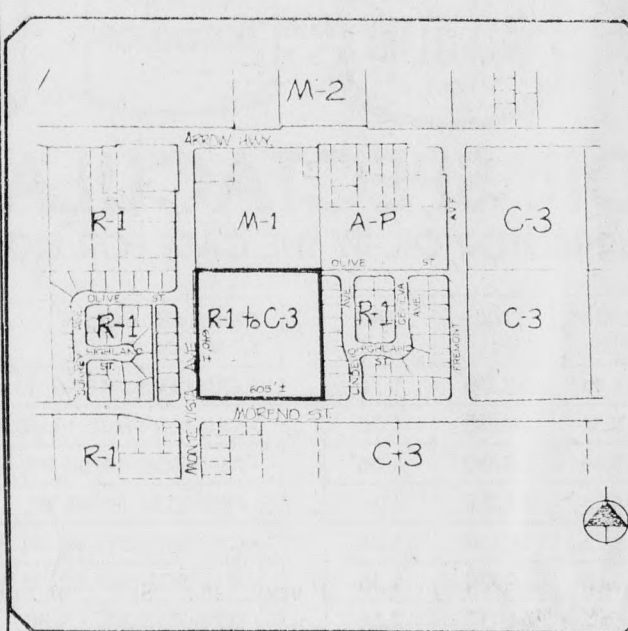

I, Gertrude L. Hill, City Clerk of the City of Montclair DO HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance Number 457 of said City, which was introduced at a regular meeting of the City Council held on the 6th day of March, 1978, and finally passed not less than five (5) thereafter on the 20th day of March, 1978, by the following vote, to-wit:

CHILDREN'S CLASSES: As part of the YMCA's movement education program, instructor Gail Wenz of Upland uses the trampoline with 2-year-old Daniel Kelly to develop balance and coordination. The classes are being offered for children from 3 months to 5 years old and will meet weekly on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Teen program

The West End YMCA is sponsoring an "Interlift" program designed for high school students.

The concept of the program is to bring high school-age students together to form special interest clubs. Skiing, hiking and special service clubs have already been formed through the program.

"I wish I had six months to read all of this," Supervisor Joseph Kamansky of 17th and said.

Kamansky was referring to both the complexity of the plan and its length, which runs to 300 pages in a thick binder.

The plan outlines spending for county mental health programs for the year starting July 1 and estimates spending for the following two years, through mid-1981.

Of the more than $19 million proposed for mental health programs in the coming year (excluding alcoholism treatment programs), more than $7.7 million will come from federal grants, fees and insurance payments, and Medicare and Medi-Cal payments, among other income sources.

Of the rest, 90 percent will be paid by the state and 10 percent will be paid by the county under the Short-Doyle Act.

That is the state law which encourages counties to provide mental health care on the premise that such programs are run better at the community level than in state hospitals.

The county's share of all mental health programs, including the alcoholism treatment programs, will reach close to $1.3 million in the coming year. The state's share will exceed $11.3 million. Other income will provide $8 million.

(Alcoholism treatment programs are treated separately for budget purposes, although they are part of the county department of mental health.)

The plan also describes the many mental health programs the county operates and discusses some changes which can be made in them.

Among some of the basic changes suggested are:

— That a limited number of new programs be set up to take care of some unmet needs. Among those are a rape-crime intervention program, a network of community volunteers, and mental health programs specifically for senior citizens.

— That emphasis be placed on prevention services, which would reduce the need for more extensive (and possibly more costly) treatment services.

— That a uniform system of evaluation be established to determine how well mental health programs are working.

The plan says one major goal which has been achieved in the past year is the establishment of comprehensive mental health services in the area from Rancho Cucamonga east to Fontana, Bloomington, Rialto and Colton.

The county received a $1 million federal grant to open mental health centers in that area.

Three-year mental health spending plans are required every year. The first year of each plan is considered the tentative budget for the coming year.

Easter Sunrise service

The Ninth annual Easter sunrise service will be held 6:15 a.m. Sunday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Covina Hills. More than 3500 are expected to attend the traditional intercommunity program, sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches, the Covina Ministerial Association and the Covina Chamber of Commerce. Operatic recitalist soprano Delphine Fahringer will sing "The Holy City" and "The Lord's Prayer." The 70-voice Edgewood High School Concert Choir, under the direction of Richard Kinzler, will present "Easter Praises," and "Allelujah! Our Lord is Risen!" Forest Lawn-Covina Hills is located at the Via Verde ramp of the San Bernardino Freeway.

Upland Presbyterian

"The Bystanders," a play about the betrayal of Jesus, will be a part of the Maundy Thursday service 7:30 p.m. tonight at the First Presbyterian Church of Upland. The play will be a prelude to the service of holy communion, led by the Rev. Richard R. Bunce, pastor. The Covenant Players, who will present the drama of how Jesus maintained courage while experiencing great pain, are an independent acting group of young adults who have earned a national reputation for creative religious drama.

"Death Transcended," is the sermon for the Easter Sunday service 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. There will be no church school but there will be nursery and child care on this morning, as well as on Maundy Thursday evening. The two high school groups of the church, Global Villagers and God's Convoy, will serve a pancake breakfast 7:30 a.m.-noon Sunday. A donation to assist the work of the groups will be taken. All are invited.

Our Savior Lutheran

Our Saviour Lutheran Church in La Verne will hold a special Good Friday service 7:30 p.m. Friday at the church's present place of worship, the La Verne Heights School on Baseline, east of Wheeler. The service will be a Tenebrae-type service, with the traditional darkening of the sanctuary — symbolizing Christ's death — as the story of the passion unfolds.

The Easter Sunday service at 9 a.m. will have special music, the celebration of the Lord's Supper, and an Easter brunch following the service. The youth of the church will sponsor the brunch.

Bethany Baptist

The Maundy Thursday service at Bethany Baptist Church of Montclair will provide new insights concerning the Passover feast. Joel Goldstein, from Jews for Jesus, will set up a regular Passover table as would be in a Jewish home and then explain the significance of each item as it pertains to Christ. The presentation culminates in the portrayal of communion as Jesus celebrated it with his disciples in the upper room. The service will begin at 7 p.m. tonight in the Fellowship Hall and will include communion, according to pastor D.L. Bray. The service will be about 1½ hours long.

Friends Society

The Diamond Bar Friends Church will hold services at the usual times Easter Sunday. Sunday School is at 9:30 a.m., with classes for all ages, and morning worship service is at 11 a.m. Nursery and toddler care is provided. At the 6 p.m. evening service, the film "Power of the Resurrection" will be shown. The church is located at 1201 S. Brea Canyon Road, Walnut. For further information, call the church office, (714) 595-8113.

Religious Science

Religious Science Society will conduct Easter Sunday services with Paul Sorenson giving the inspirational sermon. He has a background in the Science of Mind field and experiences in the field of acting in television and moving pictures. Jacqueline Pitcher will be the guest soloist. Services will begin 10:30 a.m. at the home of H. Bartholomew, 2426 Mountain Ave., Upland. Sunday School for the children is held at the same hour and child care is provided. A social hour will follow the services. For information call (714) 985-3349.

Covina Adventist

The Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church will study the end result of Christ's death and resurrection Saturday. As Christians world wide have been preparing for holy week, Adventists have been studying Christ's death and resurrection in relation to him as a creator. Pastor Bob Odell's sermon is entitled "The Power of the Resurrection." The choir will sing praises to a resurrected Christ, with Robert Leaf's "A Joyful Sound!" Study at 9:30 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. are open to the public.

Grace Brethren

"Celebrate Life" will be the message given by Pastor Gary Nolan, 9:30 a.m. Easter Sunday at Grace Brethren Church of Alta Loma, which meets in the activity room at Alta Loma High School. Youths work in Mexico

Twelve young people from Diamond Bar Friends Church spent Easter Week away from home, as do many young people. However, they weren't surfing at the beach or skiing at Baldy.

They spent the special week working for an organization called Youth Unlimited Gospel Outreach (YUGO).

They worked in cooperation with on-the-field missionaries, national pastors and other Christian leaders in the Mexicali valley, Mexico. Young people from all over Southern California worked together on this project.

Those attending from Diamond Bar Friends Church were Beverly Bell, Mari Berger, Don Brown, Louise Eckels, Ginger Frazier, Elsa Holm, Mike Hudson, Keith King, Jeff Kinsman, Todd Pierce, Debbie Slocum and Tom Thaller.

Mornings were spent in training and teaching session, personal Bible study and team meetings at the conference headquarters at the First Baptist Church, El Centro.

Then in the afternoon, each team would set out across the border to work in the various villages in cooperation with local leaders.

PASSION STORY — Children of the St. Peter and St. Paul Catholic Church putting on a dramatization Friday of Jesus' final week according to the Gospel of John, include (from left) Sean Pallotto, Mike Webb and Ken Jamieson. The program will be held at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the parish center, 9135 Banyan St., Alta Loma. The public is invited.

Pilgrim Place lists speakers

Pilgrim Place has published a 16-page brochure listing 90 subjects, 60 speakers, four panel discussion topics, and 50 ordained ministers as well as several programs centering around the 32-acre religious and cultural center in Claremont where 300 retired Christian workers make their homes.

The new publication reveals the wide diversity of residents' interests. Lecture topics, following short sentence - biographies, are organized under three headings. The first group, in which subject matter is arranged geographically, includes topics ranging from "Indians and Other Americans" by Harold E. Fey, former editor of The Christian Century; to "Tibet and the Dalai Lama" by Samuel R. and Mary Esther Burgoyne who worked 46 years in India and Nepal. Thirty speakers and 28 countries are listed in this category.

The second general heading is "the church and mission." Seven church leaders representing five different denominations are listed to speak on topics such as "The History of the Ecumenical Movement" by Dr. G. Merrill Lenox and "Christian Communmunications Overseas" by Dr. Leslie C. Sayre.

The third category, "general subject matter," features such titles as "Close Encounters of an Intergenerational Kind" by Josephine Smith, "The Odd Odyssey of Governor Bradford's Journal" by Rev. Williston Wirt, "Hospice — Caring Where We Cannot Cure" by Dr. John W. Flucke, and "Shells and Their Impact on Human History" by the Rev. Jack Warford.

Color slides and movies are offered with many of the titles.

For further information, write the Pilgrim Place public relations office, 660 Avery Road, Claremont, CA 91711 or call (714) 624-5006.

Bahai's start new year: 135

A new year began for members of the Baha'i faith on March 21, the first day of spring and the beginning of the year 135 B.E. The letters B.E. mean Baha'i Era; the Baha'i calendar dates from the time of the religion's origin in 1844 in Iran. Since that date, the Baha'i Faith has been established in over 300 countries and territories.

For the Baha'is, New Year's Day is a holy day. Baha'is all over the world call it by its Persian name, Naw-Ruz, and it is one of the nine Baha'i holy days on which Baha'is suspend work.

"All should rejoice together," the sacred Baha'i Writings say of this festival which reflects the essential joyousness of the Baha'i Faith. Founded by Baha'u'llah, the Glory of God, the Baha'i Faith recognizes the oneness of God and of the creation of God. According to the Baha'i Teachings, the human family has been educated over the ages by Manifestations of God such as Jesus Christ, Moses, Buddha, Krishna, Muhammad, Zoroaster, the Bab, and Baha'u'llah.

Naw-Ruz has a special significance for the Baha'is because they feel that Baha'u'llah and His Herald, the Bab, ushered in a new age, a spiritual springtime in which man will reach maturity and establish a peaceful world civilization. The seeds planted by the love and sacrifice of all the Divine Educators will blossom in this day, Baha'is believe.

First Baptist

Easter will be celebrated at Ontario's First Baptist Church with services at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Ralph H. Lightbody, senior minister will preach at both services. The sermon theme at the morning service will be "Stations of the Resurrection!" Special music will be given by the Chancel and Reign of Peace choirs, His Kids choir and a brass ensemble. The evening service will include a baptismal service. Branch Woodman will be soloist. Sermon theme will be "From Forever to Now!"

Good Friday Service

"Faces at the Cross" will be the theme of the annual Good Friday service sponsored by the Claremont Committee of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches noon - 3 p.m. Friday in the Claremont United Methodist Church, 211 Foothill Blvd., Claremont. Presiding at the service will be the Rev. Cornish Rogers, pastor of the host church, assisted by Dr. Merrill Lenox. The service will be conducted in six half hour segments with a speaker and lector being responsible for each of these time periods. The ushers will be from the local Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. The offering received at the service will be equally divided between the Pomona Valley Council of Churches and Crossroads, a halfway house for women located in Claremont.

Two million couples per year

Divorce rate climbs higher

Many people have become concerned about the climbing divorce rate — which now sees marriages end for two million American couples a year.

Morton and Bernice Hunt of New York are two writers who have devoted much attention to divorce. They were asked why during a tour to promote their new book, "The Divorce Experience."

"Because each of us was divorced (he twice and she once) before we married each other," Morton said. "And because almost everybody we know has gotten a divorce. So many of them don't really know what's happening to them," Bernice added.

"There's been a veritable revolution the last 12 years in what people feel when they go through a divorce and how it affects them," Morton explained.

So in November and December of 1976, the Hunts sent out comprehensive questionnaires to 1,000 divorced people which they supplemented with another 200 personal interviews.

They found out some things which surprised them:

— Almost none of those questioned said they wanted to marry to avoid the stigma of being a divorced person, where as a few years ago this would have been a prime reason for remarriage.

— More men than women seemed to feel absolute hopelessness in the weeks immediately following the divorce, especially if there were children involved. But, while men tended to be the hardest hit initially, they recovered faster than women.

— Instead of the wife running home to mother, it was the young men (usually under 25) who ran home to mother in a divorce. The wife stayed put and took advantage of Aid to Dependent Children or other welfare programs.

— Contrary to years past when divorced people tended to spurn the "singles" scene, more and more admitted that going to singles bars and singles groups and other singles activities were their major methods of meeting new people.

The Hunts stress that they are neither therapists nor sociologists but "lay experts on divorce" through their years of research. Neither holds a master's degree of a doctorate and their bachelor of art degrees are in literature.

Despite their lack of ivory-tower credentials in sociology they have built a reputation in their field and give seminars and lectures frequently on the subject of divorce.

The divorce population has reached 11 million in the United States today, Morton said, enough to make him label it a subculture or a subsociety. About one-half of all divorces occur within the first seven years of marriage (most within the first two years), and about half of all those divorced eventually remarry.

"Usually almost everyone in a divorce is traumatized or crushed. But step by step people reconstruct themselves and their lives until finally they come to grips with the situation and form new and better relationships," Bernice said.

'Arsenic' potential hit

By Lynne Locke
Editor

"Arsenic and Old Lace" will be a very funny play once the major characters learn their lines and settle into the play being presented 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday through April 22 at the Gallery Theater, C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario.

The intriguing set and the natural comedy of the play carried the audience opening night, but the play will be faster paced and much funnier when local favorite Nedra Volz of Upland is better prepared.

Even with the roughness of delivery Nedra and Lavinia Smith of Claremont are delightful as the two elderly sisters who thoughtfully use a special recipe of elderberry wine to put lonely, old gentlemen out of their misery.

George Walter of Monrovia plays the crazy, but harmless nephew who believes he is Theodore Roosevelt and is disturbed at the number of "yellow fever" victims he has to bury as he supervises the digging of the Panama Canal in the basement.

The audience thoroughly enjoys Walter's portrayal of the nephew's tea slurping manners and his periodic "charges" up the stairs, but Walter's inability to really blow the bugle shortchanges the audience.

D.R. Hartin of Upland plays the more intelligent nephew attempting to cope at the same time with his aunts' victims and his enthusiastic fiancée, well played by Janet Ford of Upland.

The evil in the play is provided by a third gangster-type nephew played by C. T. Wiseman of Banning who does a good job with an unbelievable character.

Art Jenkins of Alta Loma portrays the easy-going accomplice.

Dick Reinhard of Upland plays the dual role of the minister and the asylum director with such skill that some in the audience are not aware he is the same person.

Robert Moering of Upland gives a nice performance in the small part of a gentleman who comes to rent a room — and is immediately sized up as a candidate for some of the sisters' fine elderberry wine.

The remainder of the cast includes police officer (and hopeful playwright) O'Hara played by Mark Bluethman of Montclair and his colleagues played by Frank Brown, Steve Curci, and Mike Weed, all of Ontario.

Set designers Mark Bluethman and Tom Vaughn and costume designer Ilona Niederhofer all deserve credit for producing a beautiful show, intriguingly outfitted in black and white from the floor and chair cushions to the aunts' dresses.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is well worth an evening's time and expenditure, and is appropriate for teens as well as adults. For reservations call (714) 982-5357.

College to present 60s play

Pomona College Theater presents "Moonchildren" by Michael Weller March 31 through April 9 at 8 p.m. in Holmes Hall.

"Moonchildren" is set in Boston during 1965 and concerns the lives of eight college students living together and having to deal with themselves as well as the times.

It is the first play at Pomona directed by Bret Lyon, who joined the theater faculty last fall as an acting and directing teacher. Lyon comes from New York where his experience includes two years as an acting and directing teacher at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in addition to running his own acting studio. He has directed at the Provincetown Playhouse, the Public Theater, the Theater of the Riverside Church and was artistic director for three years of the Churchyard Playhouse.

He was educated at Amherst College and at Yale University where he received his Doctor of Fine Arts.

The eight college students are played by Katherine H. Alford, James D. Baehmann, Felicity Bliss, Barry Crooks, Gina L. Friedlander, Dan Kingsley, David Thornton and Melanie Williams. Others in the cast will be played by students, several faculty of the Claremont Colleges and members of the community; they include Mark W. Baker, Chief Benson, Bret Lyon, Richard Palmer, Roy Schneider and Steve Yount.

"Moonchildren" plays March 31, April 1, 2, 6, 7, 8 and 9 at 8 p.m.

Tax Tips

Follow suggestions for tax preparations

Income taxes may never rate very high on a popularity scale, but there are a few hints that can help make things somewhat easier at tax time, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

It's easy to procrastinate when it comes to filling out income tax forms, especially if records and receipts are stashed throughout the house. Taxpayers can prevent a lot of frustration by taking the time to organize before starting to prepare returns. Records, receipts, forms, schedules, instructions, and anything else needed should be assembled first.

The IRS has automatically sent a package containing the basic forms and instructions to taxpayers who filed last year. This should be all the average taxpayer needs to do his or her return. Additional forms and instructions are available from local IRS offices, and many banks and post offices.

The instructions in the tax package will never make the best-seller list, but they are written in plain, easy-to-understand language and designed to save taxpayers time, effort, and even some money. The IRS says that most people call and ask questions already answered in the instructions.

Nearly all taxpayers will be able to use the new tax tables this year to figure their taxes. The IRS estimates that 96 percent of all people filing returns can use the simplified tables to figure taxes, including those who itemize deductions. The general tax credit is built into the tax tables.

The first items called for on the tax form are the basics — name, address, and social security number. Taxpayers may think there is little chance for an error in this portion of the form, yet the IRS says incorrect or omitted social security numbers are not uncommon.

Taxpayers using tax packages received in the mail should use the pre-addressed peel-off label affixed to the package. The label has code numbers on it to speed IRS processing of the return. That means a faster refund check for the taxpayer. If there is an error on the peel-off label, it should be corrected right on the label.

As taxpayers complete the tax form, eventually they reach the point giving either the good news — a refund — or the bad news — more tax owed. If tax is owed, taxpayers should attach a check or money order for the full amount made payable to "Internal Revenue Service" — spell it out. Be sure the social security number is on the check in case it is separated from the return during processing.

If a preparer does the return, the taxpayer should be sure the preparer signs the return and enters an identifying number. The taxpayer should keep a copy of the return.

Taxpayers should give their return a good final review before mailing it. Look for missing signatures, W-2 forms, and required schedules. The IRS says there is no foolproof way to avoid refund-delaying errors, but most errors can be caught by the taxpayer in a few minutes of review.

The handy envelope provided in the tax package should be used to mail the return. Those "funny-looking" markings on it are special IRS codes and help to get the envelope to the right place faster at the IRS service center.

Filling out an income tax form will never be a favorite pastime, but a little planning and care will go a long way toward making the annual taxpaying ritual a little less taxing.

Relocation company can help transferred worker

If you're told by your company that you're being transferred to a city 1,000 miles away, how do you get rid of your home quickly?

Most people have only two choices: Sell it themselves or turn it over to a real estate broker. Neither way guarantees that the home will be sold by the time you make the move.

But for a growing number of transferees, there's a third way, and that's to have a relocation company buy the home immediately and pay you your equity, so you have the money to make a down payment on a new home.

There's just one hitch: The relocation company must be retained by your company to perform such a service. You can't hire it on your own.

"Fortunately, a great many companies are realizing that it pays to help the employees dispose of his home through a relocation company," reports Theodore D. Bell, executive vice president of Employee Transfer Corp. (ETC), a subsidiary of Chicago Title and Trust Company, Chicago. ETC is one of these companies. It is retained by corporations to purchase the homes of transferred employees and help them find new ones.

According to ETC statistics, of the 500,000 job-related transfers made each year, about 60,000 are done with the assistance of a relocation service.

Bell points out that the faster an employee can dispose of his home when he's transferred, the less he's apt to be bothered and worried about the transfer. That means he's happier and more productive on the job.

In addition, because so many corporations pick up the expenses of a transfer, the total expense bill is likely to be less when the employee's home is sold fast.

"Corporate attitudes toward transfers have changed remarkably over the years," Bell said. "It used to be that when the company said, 'Move!', you moved and at your expense. Whatever problems you had in selling your home were your concern, not the company's. All the company cared about was whether you showed up for work at 9 a.m. on Monday morning in the new city."

But then a few companies at first and many more later on, began to realize that a transfer worked a hardship on the employee and his family, and this showed up in the employee's job performance. So companies began offering to pay for some transfer costs, such as moving, trips to and from the new city, temporary living expense, and other incidentals. Then a few companies began paying for the costs the employee incurred in selling his old home. Some even advanced money so the employee could buy a new home in case his old home wasn't sold by the date of the transfer.

At present, according to Bell, it costs the typical company $10,000 to $12,000 to move an employee, if all relocation costs are considered. According to ETC's experience, this figure can be reduced by 20 percent by having a relocation company buy the home from the employee and coordinate the move.

The mechanism for this is simple. The employing company first agrees to hire the relocation company, such as ETC. When the transferred employee wishes, ETC then makes an offer to buy his old home. This offer is based on the average of three appraisals to arrive at a fair market price.

Bell said that when

Volunteers sought for communications

Citizens band operators, motorcyclists and concerned residents are being recruited to join a newly formed group called the Emergency Communications Organization (ECO).

ECO members act as volunteers to assist with searches, rescues and crime prevention, explained acting chairwoman Michelle Pamplin.

"We are not a law enforcement organization and we do not pretend to be," Mrs. Pamplin said. "But we will assist any agency — police, sheriff, fire departments, city, state, county, federal, civic or private enterprise," she added.

She described some of the club's goals. Group members will help "search for lost or missing children," act as "community eyes and ears for reporting crime," and take part in "neighborhood patrols and fire watches."

ECO is a non-profit organization. Acting board members have applied for a certificate of incorporation from the state of California, Mrs. Pamplin said. When the certification is obtained, permanent board members will be selected, she added.

A majority of the group's members are CB operators and most of the group's communication is sent over the radio frequencies used by CBers.

Motorcycle riders are being sought to form a special patrol of neighborhoods.

There are no membership dues or fees, Mrs. Pamplin noted.

"But the rewards are great. You may be part of locating a missing child or preventing a rape or some other kind of crime by properly reporting suspicious incidents to the proper authorities," she said.

The group will meet on the third Monday of every month.

Mrs. Pamplin pointed out that the club also offers CB operators an opportunity to get together with their friends.

Further information about the club may be obtained by calling Mrs. Pamplin at 984-1626; Tom Donegan at 593-2782; Dave Bush at 983-8890; Jim Crow at 622-7382; or Bill White at 984-1114.

Parents must prepare child for successful school time

Ask a teacher what he or she expects of parents, and the answer would probably sound something like this: "Prepare your child to participate in his or her own education, so that I can meet my responsibility more efficiently. If you do this, your child will be better educated and happier — and I will be able to do what you have hired me to do."

What the teacher asks the parent to do — prepare the child emotionally, mentally, socially, and physically to attend school — is no simple task. This preparation must begin long before the child enters kindergarten.

The quality of training a child receives at home will help to determine her respect for rules; her behavior patterns; her ability to think; her respect for her elders; her respect for property — her own and others; her ability to get along with other children and adults; her manners and her moral standards. All of these traits will affect her success in school.

Then, too, what a parent thinks, feels, and says about school has a marked influence on a child. If a parent places a high value on education, the child will usually do better work and "like" school better than if the parent shows no interest in what goes on in school.

It is important for the parents to encourage the child to learn. If the parent asks the child questions about his schoolwork — or listens attentively when the child talks about something that has happened in school — the child will feel that school is important.

And if parents expects the child to be successful — and lets the child know that they are confident their child will succeed — the child often will try harder to do his schoolwork well.

It is the parent who must set the priority that school work comes first. The wise parent sets this priority as soon as the child starts school, for she realizes that a sense of responsibility, property nurtured and regularly reinforced, will remain with the child the rest of his life.

The parent can also help the child become a better student by reviewing the child's efforts; praising good work; discussing poor work; and assisting the child in areas in which her progress is slow. At the same time, the parent must resist the temptation to do the child's work for her.

Parental praise — when it is deserved — helps a child construct a good self-image. Parents should never try to fool a child about their feelings toward her, because a child is amazingly sensitive to the feelings of others when these emotions involve her.

It is important that the parent love the child as she is — and that the child perceive this unconditional love clearly.

The parent must show respect for the teachers and for the school if the child is to learn to respect both. The child should be able to see in his parents' actions that the parents will support the teacher when the teacher deserves that support.

If the parents think the teacher is wrong in a specific situation, they should not discuss the problem in front of the child. The reason for this is simple but important: If the child hears her teacher criticized by her parents, she may lose her respect for the teacher and, with it, perhaps, her interest in working hard in school.

If the parents are unhappy with their child's progress in school, they should discuss the problem first with their child, to get her point of view; then between themselves, to clarify how the child sees her own predicament; and finally with the teacher.

The teacher's interpretation of the problem may or may not agree with the child's analysis of her difficulties. The goal of the parents and the teacher, as they talk together, is to determine, therefore, the real reason for the problem and to initiate the steps required to eliminate it.

This process — which can be lengthy and difficult if the problem is deep — is as important in teaching as a biopsy or exploratory operation is in medicine.

During this period, it is important for both parent and teacher to do their utmost to see that the child maintains a positive attitude toward school. Otherwise, a new problem can arise to complicate the problem or problems that already exist.

Too often teachers come in contact with parents only when a child is failing a course or has become a behavior problem. Forget for a moment whose fault this is — and state the remedy: Teachers need more positive contacts with parents — and parents who belong to a PTA have precisely these kinds of experiences to offer in abundance.

Teachers can also expect PTA parents to be more supportive than those parents they "know" only by virtue of their signatures on the backs of report cards.

When problems arise, PTA parents — instead of criticizing the teacher — are usually willing to discuss the situation. They are not likely to permit anger or confusion to weaken the partnership between parent and teacher — a partnership that must flourish if the children are to benefit.

Common sense needed for jogging program

Jogging is becoming a new national pastime in this country. An estimated 10 million joggers currently are participating in running programs. Jogging probably has become so popular because it can be done regardless of a person's age, with a minimal amount of equipment and at any time of the day (or even night).

Most people like to jog because they feel it is an excellent form of exercise, they find it mentally relaxing, and they have a feeling of well-being after jogging. Some joggers enjoy the competitive events that are available to them.

If you are thinking about taking up jogging, carefully consider several factors first. It is important to honestly assess your physical condition before you begin to jog. If you have any doubts about your physical ability to jog, consult your doctor.

It also is important for new joggers to obtain well-fitted running shoes. Be sure the shoes are large enough to accommodate the foot, particularly in the toe area, but not so large that the foot will move or rub excessively within the shoe. When trying on shoes, wear the socks you will wear while running. Break in the shoes by wearing them around the house before using them to run.

When you are ready to start, set up a carefully controlled running program. Start off with short distances, preferably on a grassy surface. The softer the surface, the less the stress will be on the body while you are running.

During normal running, the impact of the body against the ground is approximately two and a half times the body weight. If you use soft shoes and a soft track, you can decrease considerably the force of the impact.

Don't forget to take into account the environment in which you are running. On cold days, wear adequate clothing so that your body doesn't lose an excessive amount of heat or your muscles become chilled. In warm weather, wear lighter clothing and replace the fluid and salt that your body loses while jogging.

As you begin to build yourself up physically, strive for a regular routine that gradually increases your distance and speed until you achieve a speed and distance that are comfortable for you. Do not overextend yourself during this building-up phase.

Once you have established your jogging routine, keep it up. You should attempt to run at least four or five days a week. If you are unable to run for several weeks or are injured while jogging, do not test your body to see how much it can take when you start jogging again. Rather, start out slowly and resume jogging with an abbreviated routine. Gradually build yourself back up to your previous level of proficiency.

In addition to running, you should carry out a regular program of stretching exercises. This will keep the muscles of your body, especially the hamstrings, adductors and calf muscles, loose and help prevent muscle strain caused by tight muscles.

Unfortunately, with jogging as with any other athletic activity, injuries can occur. Approximately 25 percent of all joggers at some time have an injury that either decreases their performance or keeps them from running.

Most injuries to runners are caused by the constant impact and repeated stress applied to the lower extremities. Occasionally a runner's back may be the painful area.

Common injuries to the foot include sprains of the tissue on the foot or ankle, blisters, and occasionally injury of the toenails caused by pressure against the end of the shoe. The jogger's most annoying problem in the legs is "shin splints." This probably is caused by stress on the tissues covering the bones as well as by muscles pulling away from the bones.

Other problems can include pain along the inner side of the knee joint or discomfort around the kneecap. Sometimes discomfort around the hip joint can be caused by the large muscles moving across the hip bones during jogging. If pain persists, a physician should be consulted.

Even taking these potential injuries into consideration, however, most people can thoroughly enjoy jogging as an excellent form of exercise and relaxation — as long as they follow these suggestions and use common sense.

Wanderings, with Walt Brasch

Look for the union bunny

During the past few years, a number of public employee unions have become more militant, eventually going on strike. Garbage collectors have allowed garbage to pile up in New York and San Francisco — although some residents have claimed they could hardly tell the difference. Teachers throughout the country have walked off their jobs; police officers and fire-fighters have been "calling in ill" in numerous cities where contracts were in dispute.

And so it came to pass that on March 15, Local No.

1 of the Amalgamated Association of Easter Bunnies, AFB-CIO (American Federation of Bunnies - Cottontails International Organization) went on strike, forcing a halt to such American institutions as Easter sunrise services, Easter egg hunts, and Ft. Lauderdale Hell Week.

We now take you to Bunny Headquarters where Solomon P. Bunny, union executive secretary, and a militant corps of Easter bunnies are preparing picket signs. I walked in, notepad in hand.

"Excuse me, Mr. Bunny, but just why has your union gone on strike?"

Bunny looked up from the papers on his massive desk, chomped harder on his cigar, looked at me, scowled, and demanded to know, "Why? Why you ask! Don't you know?"

"No, sir," I replied apologetically. "I really don't know why. I always thought you were happy and contented passing out your Easter eggs."

"Sure! Sure! For one lousy day a year we get paid. That leaves 364 other days when all we're doing is multiplying. You can't make any money that way."

"I guess you're right," I replied, "but don't you get paid well on Easter Sunday?"

"Hey, man, ya gotta be from some other world! Have you ever tried putting lettuce leaves in your bank? Ever try to tell the carrot-man that all you have is some moldy lettuce to pay the month's food bill?"

"I can see your point," I said, feeling a little sorry for the bunnies. "Just what is it that you want?"

"A decent living wage and a hutch of our own," said the executive secretary. "No more of this lettuce stuff. We want cold, hard cash. Just like what those Easter Sunday folks put in the collection plates once a year."

"Well, that certainly seems fair," I responded. "Are there other demands?"

"You bet your blue booties there are," said the bunny. "We want a 50-week work year, with two weeks vacation, nine paid holidays, and our birthdays off."

"But Easter is only one day a year," I said. "Certainly you can't expect Easter every day. And that's what it'll come to if you get your demands."

"So? So what's so bad about that? Look what it'll do for the egg industry; and the food coloring industry; and the clothing industry. If Easter was everyday we'd soon have full employment."

"But what about religion?" I asked. "Wouldn't the church have objections?"

"Why should it? Look at all those people who'd be going to church and putting in the plate all those coins. Besides, as long as the Christians are in church, they won't be out on any crusades."

"You certainly have a point," I said, admiring Bunny's determination. "Are there any other demands?"

"Yeah. We want a medical plan. Including maternity benefits."

"Isn't that a bit too much to ask?" I asked. "You want Easter or don't you?"

I agreed that maternity benefits were necessary. "We also want a two-hour lunch break."

"Now, wait a minute," I said suspiciously. "No one gets a two hour lunch break."

"When was the last time you saw your boss at 1 p.m.?" asked the bunny.

"A two-hour lunch break wouldn't be unreasonable," I agreed, persuaded by his argument. "But certainly you can't have any more demands, could you?"

"Other than the escalator clause, the membership in the Bunny Club, extra time off for union stewards, and a better employee grievance procedure — no. That's about all. Now, if you'll excuse me, I have to get back to these contracts."

As I left, Solomon P. Bunny was slashing through contracts and proclaiming, "I'll bring 'em to their knees! If they don't yield, there'll never be another Easter."

Jarvis-Gann: voters face tough decision

By Dave Stirling

The voters are facing a tough decision when they go to the polls in June to vote for or against Proposition 13, the Jarvis - Gann Initiative.

I expect we will hear a lot of rhetoric and wild accusations, scare tactics and mind - boggling statistics before we go to the voting booth. Each of us must carefully study and weigh the pro and con arguments in order to make our decision.

Basically SB 1 (Behr bill) provides for the coming tax year about a 30 percent property tax reduction across the board. There is a mechanism in the bill that would presumably and hopefully put a lid on the amount of revenue that local government can derive from the property tax.

But my concern is that as home values go up, that mechanism may not be effective enough to keep property taxes down. The bill does not provide a permanent assessment reform.

Let's consider an example: indications are from the county assessor that La Mirada property will be reassessed this year, which will increase the property taxes substantially. Even with a 30 - percent reduction provided for by SB 1, the total property taxes may indeed be higher next year in La Mirada than they are presently. This situation raises the question whether a 30 - percent reduction is significant enough to offset assessment practices.

Even though there are no tax shifts or additional taxes created by this bill, it really only provides a temporary reduction in property taxes. However, considering the many varied philosophies and constituencies of the legislators, it is the best effort the legislature could produce. Its main fault is that it does not provide permanent property tax reform, which I sought and which I will continue to seek.

While my general feeling is that SB 1 does not go far enough, my other concern is that the Jarvis - Gann Initiative (Proposition 13) may go too far.

I endorsed Jarvis - Gann many months ago when it appeared to me that the legislature was not taking the property owner's plight of excessive property taxation seriously. My endorsement was for the purpose of qualifying the measure for the ballot in order to get the attention of the legislature.

If Jarvis - Gann serves no other purpose, it is an indication of the anger of the people regarding government growth and government's continued need for higher taxes. Proposition 13 would reduce property taxes to 1 percent of fair market value of the property and not allow the assessed valuation to increase those years between sale by more than 2 percent per year. While Jarvis - Gann is reflective of the frustration of the taxpayer, it too raises some very serious questions.

For instance, the effects of Jarvis - Gann would be to cut local revenues by $6 billion - $8 billion. We must remember that no property tax revenues go into state coffers. I believe consideration must be given to the possibility that Jarvis - Gann would erode local government control.

Revenues that local jurisdictions lose will possibly be made up by increased State taxation. If that indeed occurs those funds given to local government — counties, cities, schools — could very well have unwanted and dangerous strings attached allowing the state to dictate to local government.

As well, Proposition 13 treats residential and commercial property the same. Property is assessed each time the property is sold. It is a fact that residential property is sold more often than commercial property — the average homeowner sells his or her home every seven years, while commercial property turns over less often. The outcome, then, could conceivably be that the owners of a tract home could find themselves with a higher tax bill than a commercial property owner. This could be a severe handicap to homeowners who are subject to frequent transfers or to young couples attempting to buy their first home.

Moreover, there is no provision under Jarvis - Gann that the relief given to landlords will in fact be passed on to tenants.

Most importantly, Jarvis - Gann doesn't deal with continued government spending.

Californians pay the highest taxes in the country in almost every area of taxation. The angry taxpayer, then, has every right to ask why are we not receiving the highest level of services, including education. The taxpayers simply have reached the point that if they are paying top dollar, they want to know why they are not getting top returns for their money.

I like Jarvis - Gann and find it attractive because it will, in a very abrupt fashion, cause legislators to stop and reprioritize the services that government provides to the people. It is unfortunate that it takes something as abrupt as Jarvis - Gann to force us to evaluate our priorities and to cut government spending. I would welcome the opportunity to do just that.

(Stirling, a Republican, represents the 64th Assembly District, which includes Diamond Bar, Rowland Heights, and Walnut.)

Wardens will enforce law to halt theft of desert plants

The new year has brought new responsibilities to Department of Fish and Game wardens who patrol the desert areas of Southern California.

In addition to protecting fish and wildlife resources, these wardens are now charged with enforcing a new California law designed to prevent the theft of Joshua trees, cactuses and other native plants from the state's desert lands, public or private.

The new law, the California Desert Native Plants Act, resulted from the passage by the state Legislature of twin measures, AB 268 by Assemblyman Jerry Lewis of Highland and SB 84 by state Senator Omer L. Rains of Santa Barbara. Both bills were signed by Governor Brown last fall and became law on Jan. 1.

The act applies to the counties of San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial, San Diego, Los Angeles, Kern, Inyo and Mono and contains provisions to add other counties if necessary.

The legislative action resulted from reports of widespread and large scale stealing of cacti and other plants from California desert areas, especially public lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management. The plants were reportedly being sold to subdividers, many in Arizona, to provide ornamental landscaping.

Enforcement of the law rests primarily with the DFG in cooperation with the state Department of Food and Agriculture. However, the law may be enforced by any designated peace officer, including certain federal officers.

The new law has teeth as sharp as a cactus spine. Violation is a misdemeanor punishable by a minimum fine of $300 and a maximum fine of $1,000, or up to one year in jail, or both, for each violation.

A second conviction may be considered either a misdemeanor or a felony. If the latter, the penalty would be a fine of not less than $1,000 and not more than $5,000, or up to five years in state prison, or both.

for each violation.

The law states that an enforcement officer may enter in or upon any premise, train or other vehicle suspected of containing native plants illegally, or to examine documents required for the lawful movement of the plants.

Certain plants such as the saguaro cactus and crucifixion thorn may not be taken except by permit for scientific or educational purposes.

However, the law provides for lawful harvest of certain desert plants such as yuccas, cacti, ocotillo and mesquites.

The county sheriff or agricultural commissioner may issue permits, wood receipts, tags and seals for a fee prescribed by boards of supervisors. Minimum fees are $1 per plant except the Joshua tree, for which the minimum fee is $2. Fees go to county general funds.

Fish and Game personnel will enforce the new law vigorously, according to Robert D. Montgomery, regional manager of the DFG's Region 5, which includes Southern California and the Inyo - Mono area

State department needs volunteers for program to aid disabled locally

The California Department of Rehabilitation is looking for people in local communities to be trained as volunteer specialists in the removal of architectural barriers affecting the state's disabled population.

The state agency is developing a Community Access Network (CAN) to serve in an advisory capacity to local governments and businesses.

"A lot of businessmen and government officials in local communities are wondering just what kinds of modifications will be required to make their facilities accessible to people with physical handicaps," said Hollynn Fuller, coordinator of the CAN Program in the department's Mobility Barriers Section.

Interested individuals may pick up applications at any Department of Rehabilitation office, or write to Hollynn Fuller, Mobility Barriers Section, Department of Rehabilitation, 830 K Street Mall, Sacramento, California 95814.

Close-up views home crunch in Southland

Some experts predict that the detached single family home, one of the keystones of the "American Dream," will very soon become a financial impossibility for all but the very rich.

In a special half - hour presentation, Dr. George Fischbeck, educator and effervescent meteorologist on Channel 7's "Eyewitness Eyes," follows a family of four through a day of house hunting to examine the problems facing Southern Californians in finding adequate housing at a decent cost, during KABC-

TV's close - up look at the "Land of the Free — Home of the Rich." Thursday, March 30 at 7:30 p.m.

GAZEBOS — Two entrepreneurs, Deryl Gwozdz, 26 (left), and Michael Pari, right, are staking part of their futures on the belief that garden gazebos are making a comeback. Gwozdz, who was displaying his hand-crafted furniture in one was asked to build another and requests snowballed until he has established a business in Montclair, hired a full working crew, a salesman and a partner, Pari, who decorates the gazebos with hand-crafted stained glass.

Business News

Membership

Dr. Harry McIntosh of Upland has been selected for membership in the American Chiropractic Association.

He is graduate of Palmer College of Chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa.

Promoted

Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association has named three Upland residents to corporate positions.

Gus A. Austin was promoted to vice president-controller. Austin has worked for the firm since May 1977 and is treasurer of the association's four subsidiary companies. He served as financial vice president for the four firms 1972-77.

Evelyn Steward was promoted to assistant vice president. She has worked for the association for more than eight years and heads the publications - security department.

Mary Ballinger was named assistant secretary. She supervises the demands and payoffs division of the association's loan service department. Mrs. Ballinger has been with the association since 1963 and had 14 years of previous banking experience.

New rank

Marine Pvt. First Class Paul Miller, son of Mrs. and Mr. Paul Miller of Alta Loma, has been promoted meritoriously to his current rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

He received his early promotion for superior performance during all phases of the nine - week training cycle. Miller joined the Marines in October 1977.

Honor

Airman First Class Laura L. Regina, daughter of Mrs. and C.J. Regina of Montclair, has been named "outstanding airman of the month" in her unit at Davis - Monthan Air Force Base in Arizona.

Airman Regina, an air traffic control operator, was selected for professional skill, duty performance and exemplary conduct. She is a 1975 graduate of Montclair High School.

Award

Charlie Krauskopf, owner of Pioneer Take Out Restaurants in San Dimas, Ontario and Montclair, has been honored as Pioneer Take Out Corp.'s "franchisee of the year."

Krauskopf's daughter Patty and Lynda Fife are managers of the Montclair restaurant.

The award is sponsored by the International Franchise Association, of which Pioneer Take Out is one of 300 members.

Krauskopf is president of the San Dimas Chamber of Commerce.

Nursing

Chaffey College's

program in professional nursing has been granted accreditation by the National League for Nursing (NLN) after an extensive evaluation.

This initial accreditation is for an eight-year period. The evaluation was based on interviews with staff and students plus a survey of study facilities and hospitals associated with the program.

The procedure also entailed the preparation of a faculty self-evaluation report.

Professional nursing, leading to the associate in science degree, received accreditation from the California Board of Registered Nursing (BRN) when the program was started at Chaffey in 1957. Completion of the program qualifies the graduate as a candidate for the R.N. license via the BRN examination.

Promoted

Marine Pfc. John M. Allen III, son of Patricia A. Saum of 9999 Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga, has been promoted to his present rank while serving at the Marine Corps Development and Education Command, Quantico, Va.

New officers

New officers for the San Bernardino County Fire and Arson Investigators Association were recently installed.

New president is Joe Longo, an inspector for the Foothill Fire District. Jim Brown of the Montclair Fire Department is the new vice president and Chuck Hill of the Apple Valley Fire Department is the secretary-treasurer.

The association was formed in late 1976 to coordinate the efforts of fire department and law enforcement personnel in the field of arson investigations.

Appointed

A new executive officer has been appointed to fill a vacancy at the West End Sheriff's Office.

Lt. Robert Ault, 38, has taken over duties as second in command at the substation. He replaces Tom Wickum who has been promoted to captain and is being reassigned to other duties.

Ault began his career with the sheriff's department in 1963. He started as a deputy at the West End office. He later became a detective dealing with burglary, arson, vice and narcotic crimes.

Ault was promoted to sergeant then to lieutenant and spent time at the sheriff's Glen Helen facility.

Ault lives in Cucamonga with his wife and two sons, ages 11 and 8.

He graduated in 1967 from Chaffey College with a degree in police science and later graduated from Redlands University with a degree in public administration.

The lieutenant is active in local scouting groups and youth sports.

His hobbies are boating, water skiing and basketball.

Ault was instrumental in starting the West End Search and Rescue Team.

New rank

Marine Lance Cpl. Antonio Moreno Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Moreno of 1262 E. St. Ninth St., Upland, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with 1st Marine Division, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton.

He joined the Marine Corps in March 1976.

Promotion

William R. Yehner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralleg W. Yehner of Upland, has been promoted to senior airman in the U.S. Air Force.

Yehner, a heavy equipment operator, is assigned at Charleston Air Force Base in South Carolina with a unit of the Military Airlift Command.

The airman is a 1972 graduate of Upland High School.

New rank

Richard Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright of Upland, has been promoted to airman in the U.S. Air Force.

Wright is assigned to Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico as a law enforcement specialist. He serves with a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

He is a 1976 graduate of Chaffey High School in Ontario.

Asst. manager

Georgia Powell of Cucamonga has been appointed assistant manager for loans at Bank of America's La Verne branch.

Ms. Powell, who has worked for Bank of America since 1970, had been loan officer at the bank's Cucamonga branch since March 1977.

She is a graduate of Chaffey High School in Ontario.

Training

U.S. Army Specialist Four Jim Cota, son of Alice J. Cota of Cucamonga, recently participated in annual winter training in Grafenwohr, West Germany.

Spec. Cota is regularly assigned as a driver with the First Infantry Division in Goppingen, West Germany.

Graduate

Airman Vicent R. Figlioli, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Thomas Figlioli of Montclair, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force pharmacy specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base in Texas.

Figlioli is now trained to prepare, analyze and dispense medicine and chemicals. He will serve at Norton Air Force Base in California.

The airman is a 1977 graduate of Montclair High School.

Private mortgage firms have services similar to VA, FHA

By VERNON RIPHAGEN President, Ontario - Upland - Chino Board of Realtors

Homeowners and potential home buyers usually are well acquainted with FHA (Federal Housing Authority) and VA (Veterans Administration) insured mortgage loans. But the first-time home buyer may not be as familiar with the services offered by private mortgage insurance companies (MICs), says the Ontario - Upland - Chino Board of Realtors and the National Association of Realtors.

There are currently 15 privately owned mortgage insurance firms with more than 140 regional offices that provide mortgage lenders insurance against loan defaults.

These MICs insured more than 250,000 mortgages during the first six months of 1977 — more than either FHA or VA. In June 1977 alone, they insured more mortgages than the two government agencies combined.

Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLBB) regulations allow federally chartered savings and loans to originate mortgage loans as high as 95 percent.

Because the buyer is starting out with less equity with a low down payment and thereby technically is making less of a financial commitment, the lender assumes a greater risk.

By underwriting this risk, MICs help make the high-ratio (more than 80 percent) loans more palatable from the lender's and FHLBB's viewpoints.

By insuring lenders against mortgage loan defaults, MICs are performing the services similar to those of the FHA and VA, but there are some differences.

MICs insure only the highest risk portion of the loan — generally the top 20 to 25 percent, and sometimes less. This is based on the assumption that after the buyer has paid off the top one-fifth or one-quarter of the loan, the danger of his defaulting diminishes significantly because more of his equity is at stake.

By contrast, FHA insurance covers the entire loan and the VA guarantees the loan's top 60 percent, but only to a maximum of $17,500.

MICs usually charge buyers a lower renewal premium than FHA requires because they are insuring only the risky portion of the loan. The VA charges no premium for its loan guarantees.

A typical MIC premium, paid at closing, is 1 percent for 95 percent loans and 0.5 percent for 90 percent for 90 percent loans. Then MICs cut the renewal cost in half or more, to 0.25 percent of the declining, outstanding loan balance.

FHA charges 0.5 percent both at closing and for all renewals. FHA insurance must be renewed throughout the life of the loan, but private mortgage insurance may be cancelled before the loan is paid off if the lender believes risk is sufficiently reduced.

With privately insured loans, borrowers pay the prevailing market rate of interest. However, both FHA and VA specify a ceiling on the amount of interest which can be charged. Most lenders then charge points (one point equals 1 percent of the mortgage to bring the interest rate up to the market rate.

CHINO BASIN WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT

NOTICE INVITING BIDS

For Construction of Fence

at the West State Street Recharge Basin

RECEIPT OF PROPOSALS: Sealed proposals will be received at the office of L.D. King, 517 N. Euclid Avenue, Ontario, California 91764 until 10:00 o'clock a.m. on Wednesday, April 5, 1978, for furnishing all plant, labor, materials and equipment for construction of street widening and new street construction on Brooks Street. The proposals will be publicly opened and read in the said office at 10:30 o'clock a.m. on the date above mentioned.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK: The entire work is contained in a single bid schedule for which bids will be received. The work consists of constructing a 6' chain link fence around the perimeter of the Chino Basin Municipal Water District's West State Street Recharge Basin.

COMPLETION OF WORK: All work shall be completed within thirty (30) calendar days after the date of the execution of the contract by the District.

OBTAINING CONTRACT DOCUMENTS: Plans and specifications and all contract documents may be obtained from the Project Engineer, L.D. KING, Ontario, California 91764, upon deposit of $20.00 payable in advance to said Engineer. The deposit will be refunded upon the receipt of the plans and specifications by the Engineer, within fifteen (15) days after opening of bids. Documents will be mailed upon the receipt of $2.00 per set for mailing and handling.

PROPOSAL GUARANTEE: Each proposal must be accompanied by cash or by a cashier's or certified check or by a bid bond in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid price, made payable to the order of the Secretary to the Board, Chino Basin Water Conservation District, as a guaranty that the bidder, if the award is made to him in accordance with the terms of his proposal, will promptly execute a contract in the required form, secure payment of workmen's compensation insurance, and furnish a satisfactory faithful performance bond and a labor and material bond. The faithful performance bond shall be in the sum of not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the prices stated in the proposal. The labor and material bond shall be in the sum of not less than fifty percent (50%) of the estimated aggregate amount of the payments to be made under the contract, computed on the basis of the prices stated in the proposal. In addition to the above and if requested by the District, the bidder shall furnish a financial statement of recent date. Failure to comply with this requirement will render a bid informal and shall be sufficient cause for rejection.

WAGE RATES: Pursuant to applicable provisions of the Labor Code of the State of California, not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages including legal holidays, and overtime work for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the work contemplated under this agreement shall be paid to all workmen employed on the work to be done according to this contract by the Contractor, or any Subcontractor shall be deemed to include employer payments for health and welfare, pension, vacation and similar purposes and shall be in addition to the prevailing hourly rate adopted in accordance with Section 1773.2 of said Labor Code by the Board of the Chino Basin Water Conservation District.

OWNER'S RIGHT RESERVED: The Board of the Chino Basin Water Conservation District reserves the right to reject any and all bids to waive any informality in a bid and to make awards as the interest of the District may require. This notice is given by order of the Board of Chino Basin Water Conservation District.
